

Death Near for Pope After a Second Stroke

By FRANK BRUTTO

CASTEL GANDOLFI, Italy (AP)—Pope Pius XII was near death today after a second stroke. His heart weakened, and his doctors had little hope that he could survive.

The second stroke came this morning, two days after the first. "The Pope is going fast," was the word in this town where the 82-year-old spiritual leader of the Roman Catholic Church was stricken.

A member of the papal household was reported by a Castel Gandolfo police official to have sent that message to the Italian government.

Heightening the emotional tension were false reports that the Pope had died this morning. The Italian news agency Italia issued one such report. The Vatican officially denied it.

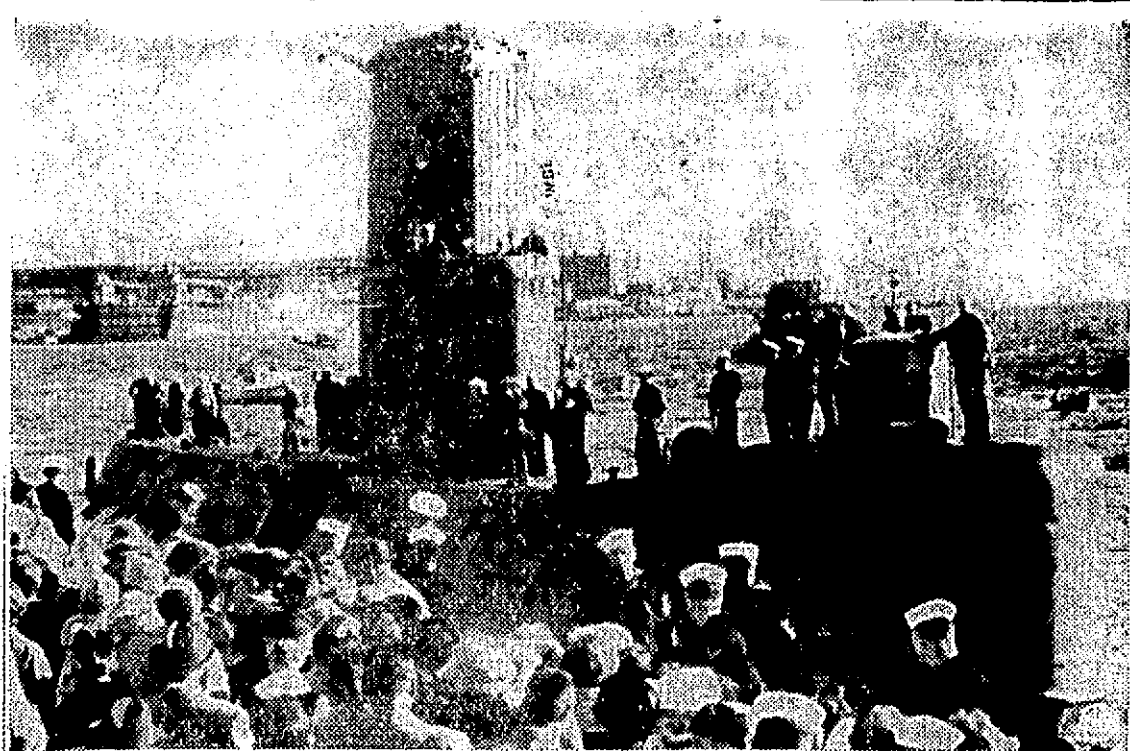

It was reliably reported that the Pope had been given Extreme Unction — the last rite for the dying or those in danger of death — for the second time. It had been given for the first time as he lay in a coma Monday after his first stroke.

At noon (6 a.m. EST), a Vatican radio broadcaster, speaking from the Pope's antechamber, said at the time the Pope was "resting."

He added that the condition of the pontiff was unchanged from that reported in the medical bulletin which several hours before had announced the second stroke and said the Pope had made some slight improvement.

The broadcaster said the Pope's temperature was 37 degrees centigrade (98.6 Fahrenheit), normal, but his pulse was 103, very high. The radio spokesman added that "at that moment" the pontiff was in a state of lethargy, "probably under the effects of tranquilizers."

Louisiana Demos Having Tough Fight

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Camille F. Gravel Jr., 43-year-old veteran of Louisiana's rough and tumble politics, faces a grim, uphill fight for his job as Democratic national committeeman.

The showdown today, before the State Central Committee has the Alexandria attorney on the wrong side of an issue with a strong grip on Southern emotion—segregation.

Gravel, a Catholic lay leader, faces an apparently overwhelming coalition teaming normal political foes, Gov. Earl Long and State Sen. W. M. Rainach Louisiana's segregation chief.

Segregationists have been after Gravel for more than a year because of his support for the national party's position on civil rights.

Gravel replied he was merely carrying out his pledge to support the party and its platform. In his votes on the Democratic National Advisory Council, where he represents the South.

A close friend of National Chairman Paul Butler, Gravel is a member of the National Executive Committee. Butler declined comment pending today's Central Committee session.

Man Buried Under 100 Tons, Rescued

CORONA, Calif. (AP)—What does a man buried under 100 tons of rock and earth think about? Those digging machines that are biting down to free him, says Carlos Ramirez. He was buried for 9 minutes Tuesday in a quarry rockslide.

"I've seen a couple of fellows killed by machines trying to dig them up," said Ramirez, who came through the ordeal with only minor injuries.

"I thought that might happen to me, but I still couldn't move. So what could I do?"

The steel helmet he wore saved his life. It made an air pocket over his head.

He was planting explosives at the base of a 150-foot cliff when the slide buried him. A steam shovel went to work and removed 40 tons of earth and rock. A small machine was sent in and removed another 60 tons. Fellow workers then started in with hand shovels.

Ramirez, 54, was motionless when he was uncovered.

Recall Petitions to Be Delayed

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Petitions for recall of four of the five members of the Little Rock School Board will not be filed for several weeks.

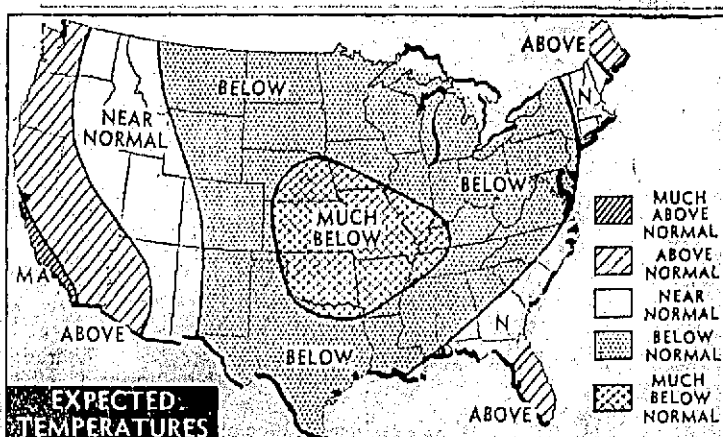

Mrs. Margaret C. Jackson, president of a fine Segregationist Central High Mothers League, said the signatures on the petitions would have to be checked against the list of 1958 poll tax holders. She said she understood the new list would not be available for two or three weeks.

Only qualified electors are eligible to sign the petitions. The Mothers League circulated the recall petitions but failed to file them with the Pulaski County clerk before the 1957 poll tax expired Oct. 1.

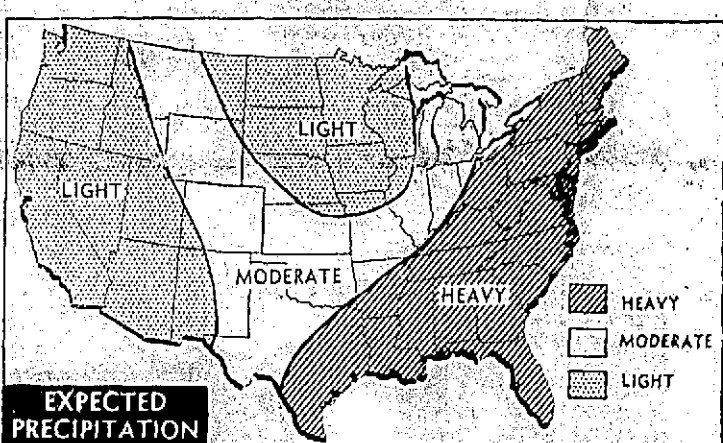

Oil Progress Week '58 Oct. 12-18

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The week of Oct. 12-18 will be observed as Arkansas Oil Progress Week by proclamation of Gov. Orval Faubus. Donald Smith, chairman of the Arkansas Oil Dealers' Assn., said about 20 Arkansas cities will conduct activities during the week.

Smith said the week was a national observance.

Most of the country can look for temperatures in October to average below seasonal normals, except for near to slightly above normal in New England and along the south Atlantic coast. Above normal is predicted for West Coast states and near normal in mountain areas.

Rainfall for the period is expected to exceed normal over the eastern third of the nation and also in the Gulf states. Sub-normal amounts are predicted west of the Continental Divide and in the northern plains. Elsewhere, near normal precipitation is in prospect.

Backs Closing Schools, 3 Per Cent Sales Tax

C. O. Walquist, Prescott newspaper publisher and Nevada County Representative Elect, spoke out harshly yesterday against recent decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court, integration, and the proposed repeal of the state 3% sales tax.

He spoke before the Hope Kiwanis Club, and touching on Newspaper Week, the speaker expressed fear that freedom of the press and freedom of speech was in jeopardy if the U.S. Supreme Court is not curbed in making decisions on what he called adverse to the Constitution and Bill of Rights.

He upheld Governor Faubus in his fight for states rights and segregation in the public schools of Arkansas, contending that "we would be justified in shutting down every school in Arkansas if we could win the battle against integration."

He played the NAAAP and said it had close connections with Communist fronts which he declared was striving to take control of the United States.

In regard to the proposed repeal of the three percent sales tax which will appear on the November ballot, Mr. Walquist predicted that "it should have been done 10 years ago."

Ed Thrash and Aris Trout were introduced as new members, and Charles Garrett of Arkadelphia was a guest.

Bright Outlook for State Crops

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A bright outlook for the state's crops is contained in the federal-state Crop Reporting Service's monthly bulletin released yesterday.

Stewart Youngest of U. S. Justices

WASHINGTON (AP)—At 43 Potter Stewart is going to be the baby of the U. S. Supreme Court. But Stewart, appointed to the court Thursday, won't be the youngest justice ever to sit on the high bench.

All Around Town

By The Star Staff

If there is any opposition to the City of Hope purchasing outside power and placing municipal Water and Light Plant on a standby basis, it hasn't been very loud—at least there wasn't a single objection when the proposal was submitted to the Board of Directors Monday night.

In general, the comment was, "it should have been done 10 years ago," however, local folks are concerned about what will happen to the present W&L plant crew.

First the city must maintain its distribution system the same as now—a standby crew will be maintained at the plant, and several of the crew are eligible to retire—even so, it is estimated that about half of the crew will be out of work come April 1.

Manager Garland Medders assures that some will be used to build a loop around the city which is necessary under the plan, and as many as possible will be placed in other city departments where help is needed.

Then too, Medders says, others will be asked to carry out some daily needed improvements which have been neglected over the years.

U. S. Calls Off Convoy Duty to Quemoy

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States announced today the convoying of Nationalist Chinese supply vessels to the Quemoy run has stopped. It said that if the Chinese Communists start shooting again the escort system "will be resumed forthwith."

State Department press officer Lincoln White told reporters the "entire purpose of the United States in the Quemoy crisis has been to bring about a cease-fire and obviously we hope the present cease-fire will continue."

The Communists began an announced seven-day truce period Monday Secretary of State Dulles and other Eisenhower administration officials are trying to figure some way to get the truce extended into a permanent cease-fire.

There were reports here that some Communist diplomats in Western Europe were passing out word that the Chinese Communist regime will extend the no shooting order beyond next weekend.

Cotton Crop Estimate 11.6 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 11,675,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This figure is 430,000 bales less than the forecast of 12,105,000 last year and 14,136,000 for the ten-year (1947-56) average.

The crop is being grown on an average restricted by a federal crop control program and withdrawal of some land under the soil bank payment program. These measures are designed to help prevent over production.

The department forecast the yield at an average of 460 pounds per harvested acre compared with 388 pounds last year and 317 for the ten-year average.

The indicated production compares with a department forecast that around 12,500,000 bales will be needed to supply domestic and foreign markets. Supplementing the crop will be a reserve and surplus of 8,700,000 bales accumulated from past big crops. Much of this is stored under government price supports.

In an accompanying report, the Census Bureau said 2,626,554 running bales from this year's crop had been ginned prior to Oct. 1 compared with 2,492,496 ginned by the same date last year and 5,528,668 two years ago.

The indicated yield per acre and production, respectively, by states included:

Arkansas 446 pounds per acre and production 1,000,000 bales. Tennessee, 515 and 440,000; Mississippi 453 and 1,080,000; Missouri 496 and 310,000; Louisiana 397 and 310,000.

Governor to Send Out Letters Over Nation Appealing for Funds

Hurricane Leaves 19 Persons Dead

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Hurricane Janice, the season's most deadly storm, spun its winds of 75 m.p.h. in the open Atlantic today, a menace to unwary sailors. Its victims numbered 19.

Janice was located early today about 455 miles east of Jacksonville.

Reconnaissance aircraft and ships reported Janice was moving between north northeast and northeast at 8 m. p. h. The Weather Bureau said the course would keep the storm's center well off the East Coast of the United States.

Cable warnings were lowered south of Cape Hatteras, N. C. to Vero Beach but continued to the south of Cape Hatteras, N. C., to Wilmington.

Janice became a killer when it whipped through Bahama waters Tuesday on a drive to the open sea. A 45 foot Haitian sloop, trying to make shore in heavy seas, swamped and 18 persons aboard were drowned.

In earlier tropical storms this season, one death was attributed to Alma, the first, and five to Ella, the fifth.

Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus announced that he and Dr. T. J. Raney, president of a corporation seeking to establish all-white private high schools in Little Rock, soon will send out thousands of letters appealing for funds.

He said the letters, written on the governor's stationery, will go to people all over the nation who have written or telegraphed commendation of his pro-segregation stand.

They will promise a pro rata refund of any unused contributions should the state, now enjoined by federal court decree, be able later to provide money for the purpose.

Chinchilla Industry Staging Comeback

The chinchilla industry is staging a comeback said Paul Haley in a talk before the Lions Club Monday night. While no one expects the industry to reach the fantastic heights of several years back when a pair of these little satiny animals sold for $1,000 to $2,000, Mr. Haley said the sale of pets had increased from 3,000 during 1954 to more than 60,000 so far during 1958. The average acceptable pet brings the grower about $20 and it takes 120 bolts to make a fur coat, he said.

Mr. Haley has been raising chinchillas in Hope since 1952 and at present has 118.

Plans to Use the Cash to Finance Private Schools

A nationwide test of sentiment—at the pocketbook level—of private schools as a means of preserving segregation was in the making today.

New Supreme Court Justice Is Selected

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Judge Potter Stewart of Cincinnati, whose appointment to the U.S. Supreme Court was announced Tuesday, probably will undergo unusually close Senate scrutiny into his legal philosophy.

This is not because of the man, but because of the times.

Stewart's selection by President Eisenhower to succeed retiring Justice Harold H. Burton, also from Ohio, comes at a time when the Supreme Court has become a major center of controversy. Its rulings on school segregation have been denounced in some quarters, while others have criticized its findings in Communist cases.

The appointment was announced less than 24 hours after the disclosure that Burton was retiring on the advice of his physician.

Stewart, a 43-year-old Republican, now is a judge of the 6th Circuit Court of Appeals. Eisenhower appointed him to that position in April, 1954.

Under a recess appointment, Stewart will be able to take his place on the nation's highest judicial tribunal immediately after Burton's retirement becomes effective next Monday.

When Congress reconvenes in January, his nomination to the $35,000-a-year lifetime post will be sent to the Senate for confirmation.

The new appointee told questioning newsmen Tuesday that as a circuit judge, he has had a part in deciding only one school segregation case—an Ohio dispute where the court ruled for prompt integration.

Stewart was recommended for the nomination by Sen. John W. Bricker (R-Ohio).

Stewart said his selection took him by surprise. He came here Tuesday morning for a conference with Eisenhower after a rush call from Atty. Gen. William P. Rogers.

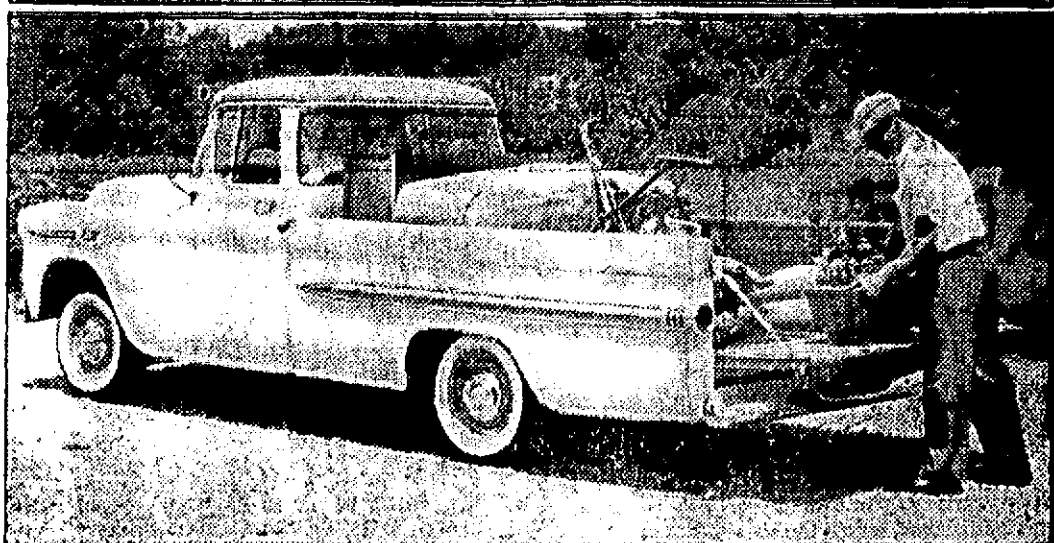

Five of the nine Supreme Court justices, including Chief Justice Earl Warren, now have been appointed by Eisenhower. The political division remains at five Democrats and four Republicans.

Bitter Arms Debate Looms Before UN

By TOM HOGG

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP)—A bitter arms debate loomed in the U.N. today as the Soviet Union threatened to match U.S. and British nuclear weapon tests blast for blast. The United States challenged the Soviets to make clear their intentions.

The Assembly's top Political Committee was expected to give priority to the disarmament question. The Soviet Union and India put in resolutions calling for an immediate stop to nuclear tests. The United States was working on a resolution of its own.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko leveled a parting thrust at the West in a news conference on the eve of his departure today for Moscow.

He said lack of Western agreement to halt nuclear weapon tests will compel the Soviet government to continue its explosions until it has reached the total touched off by the United States and Britain combined.

The Soviet delegation said later that Gromyko was referring to the Western tests that have taken place since the Soviet Union announced March 31 that it was suspending test explosions. The Soviets resumed the tests Sept. 30, saying this was necessary because the United States and Britain had not stopped their testing.

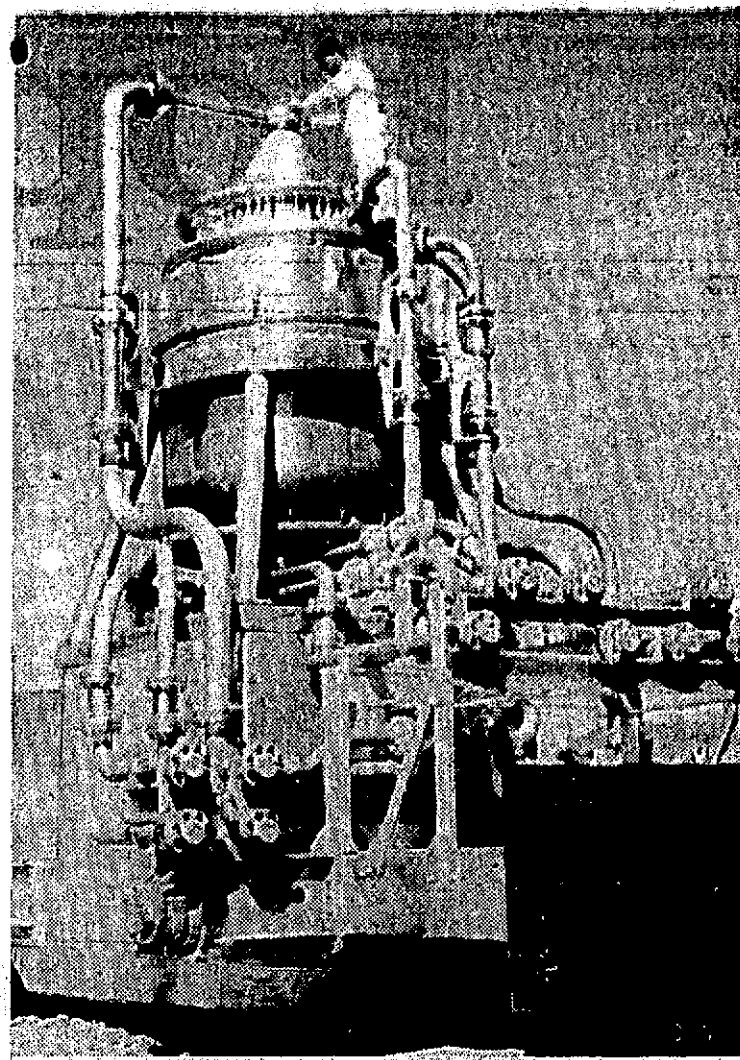

After Gromyko's statement, the State Department queried whether the Soviet Union would accept the British and American invitation to join in a one-year suspension of Oct. 31. On that date the Big Three met in Geneva to try to negotiate a permanent ban on the testing.

Some Western circles viewed Gromyko's warning as partly a propaganda move and partly an apology for the Soviet Union's having resumed tests after announcing a unilateral decision to suspend them.

McClellan Warns About Defense

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) delivered a stern warning last night against lessening of U. S. defenses against communism.

"Nothing I have read or heard indicates the Communists have dropped their plans for world conquest," the senior Arkansas senator declared. In a sweeping speech at a public meeting here, McClellan said it was imperative that the U. S. prevent Russia from gaining control of outer space.

His talk touched on defense, international relations, fiscal affairs and labor. He swiped at the Supreme Court's school desegregation ruling and declared the court is "ruling on philosophy," instead of precedent.

Plans to Use the use of state money become legal later.

The letter states that the original plan to use state money for the operation of private, segregated schools was thwarted by federal court action which restrained the state from using public funds for support of private schools.

A master copy of the letter has gone to a printing firm for duplication.

The Little Rock Private School Corp. moved cautiously toward overcoming federal obstacles to setting up all-white private schools.

Corporation officials promised a statement later this week on an opening date.

Definite plans on how the corporation intends to tackle the many blocks facing it were clouded by reluctance of officials to disclose information.

A federal court order prevents buildings of the city's four high schools, closed by Gov. Orval C. Faubus to thwart integration, from being used by the private corporation Little Rock public school teachers also are barred by the court from aiding the group.

W. C. Brashears, a retired public school principal named by the corporation to head the private schools, planned to start interviewing prospective teachers in an effort to begin classes as soon as possible.

He said applications had come in from many parts of the country.

Gov. Faubus, central figure in the historic federal-state struggle here, threw a new punch at the federal government Tuesday with a charge that officials were trying to intimidate him by assessing him extra personal income taxes.

The government denied the charge, which sprang from a form letter which the Internal Revenue Service later told the governor had been issued prematurely.

Faubus said the government had sought back taxes on items covering a three-year period, including rental of the official mansion and salaries of servants.

izers administered to him. The second attack was of the same type as that which felled the pontiff Monday, a cerebral circulatory attack which produced coma and partial paralysis.

It came on him at 7:30 a.m. (1:30 a.m. EST), just 47 hours after the first stroke. It was learned unofficially at the Vatican press office that the Pope's heart was weakening and had become irregular after the second attack.

The Vatican radio said the pontiff had regained consciousness for a time and requested Holy Communion but was unable to swallow the host, the thin wafer of unleavened bread representing the body and blood of Christ. He was then given Absolution—forgiveness of sins—and apparently became unconscious again soon after.

U.S. Calls Off

with a vastly improved air and sea supply system that will work even if firing is renewed.

"Unless the Communists order a 24-hour barrage, I don't think they can stop convoys from going through," Brig. Gen. Lester Bork told newsmen.

There were mounting indications that warships of the U.S. 7th Fleet have stopped escorting convoys to Quemoy for the rest of the Communist cease-fire, due to run through next Sunday.

Bork said neither Communist artillery attacks on Quemoy nor Nationalist counterfire has been particularly effective. The Army chief of the U.S. Military Advisory Team here added that the Nationalists should show improvement, soon under a new artillery commander.

Bork and his staff made a 12-hour inspection of the Quemoy islands off the China coast Tuesday. Troop and civilian morale is excellent, they concluded. Damage and casualties have been light. The supply system is greatly improved, and Nationalist positions have been so dug in and fortified over the past nine years they are extremely difficult to destroy, they found.

An unescorted Chinese Nationalist landing ship put tons of ammunition and 450 troop replacements ashore on Quemoy today, the third day of the cease-fire. The captain said his ship "came alone" on the supply run from the Pescadores.

His crewmen told AP correspondent Gene Kramer on Quemoy that they did not see any accompanying U.S. warships on the 85-mile voyage.

The Nationalists said large quantities of supplies were pouring into Quemoy. The Communists had said they would hold up their artillery attack for a week provided American escorting of convoys ceased.

Washington dispatches said an order halting American convoying might already have gone out. Radio Peking reported an absence of American "intrusions" into the 12-mile seaward limit the Communists set on their territorial waters and air space, a line the U.S. ships ignored in their escorting.

In Taipei, public information officers of Vice Adm. Roland N. Smoot's Taiwan (Formosa) defense headquarters were apparently under orders to leave all announcements to Washington.

The first American Nike Hercules missile battalion in the Far East arrived at the southern Formosan port of Keelung today to join in Formosa's defense line. The Nike-Hercules is a supersonic anti-aircraft missile capable of seeking out and destroying entire formations of enemy aircraft with either conventional or nuclear warheads.

Thirty-four of the missiles and other equipment for the battalion left the 700 men arrived in Formosa Sunday.

The battalion commander, Lt. Col. Bernard Greenberg of Wilmington, Del., said his outfit expected to be in operation — ready to fire — in a week or 10 days.

Bar Group Plans Legal Institute
FAVETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Bar Assn. will conduct a three-day legal institute at the University of Arkansas Law School here beginning tomorrow.

The institute will deal largely with property laws. It will be completed at noon Saturday, and the lawyers are scheduled to attend the University of Arkansas Rice Institute football game Saturday afternoon.

The Salvation Army, which was founded in England in 1865 by the Rev. William Booth, was first known as The Christian Mission.

Nurses to Open Convention

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas State Nurses Assn. will open a two-day convention here tomorrow with about 300 delegates expected.

Miss Hilda Scott of Little Rock, association executive director, said a pre-convention report will show that Arkansas' supply of professional registered nurses is critically short.

Miss Scott said the report is based on a two-year study headed by Dean Julia Miller of the University of Arkansas school of nursing.

In other business, the association will elect officers, consider changes in bylaws and hear discussions on mental health and leadership.

Mrs. Dorothea Funk of Arkadelphia has been nominated for the association presidency.

Temperance Union Closes Conference

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Women's Christian Temperance Union closed a two-day convention here today after hearing an address by one of their national leaders last night.

Mrs. Fred J. Toozie of Evanston, Ill., national corresponding secretary, told the Arkansas group that the liquor industry was trying to introduce misconceptions about alcohol into classrooms.

Mrs. Toozie said the liquor industry was trying to teach youngsters that moderate use of alcohol is accepted and approved.

"They do not explain," she said, "that all the five million alcoholics currently in the country started out to be moderate drinkers."

Real Estate Men Elect Officers

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jimmie Taylor of Fort Smith yesterday was elected president of the Arkansas Real Estate Assn. at the close of the group's convention here.

Other officers include Fleetwood B. Joyner of Blytheville, vice president, and Delmer Sagary of Fort Smith, secretary-treasurer.

Develops Calluses on Campaign

PHIACA, N.Y. (AP) — Nelson A. Rockefeller, from shaking thousands of hands in his campaign as the Rockefeller family has developed calluses on his hands.

"I shake about 2,000 hands a day," he told a reporter as he displayed his battle scars. But "I love it," said the philanthropist, a newcomer to politics.

Woman Tells About Slaying in Arkansas

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP) — Oklahoma County Sheriff Bob Turner said today a 28-year-old woman told him her male companion shot to death a Georgia man last week-end.

The woman identified herself to the sheriff as Lorraine Lucy Tate Shanga. She was apprehended by nearby Balmby, Okla., police yesterday with a 30 year old man identified as Hoyt Ledford, a federal parolee. Both were heavily armed.

The woman refused to talk until today when she agreed to give a statement to Turner.

Turner said the woman, whose father lives in Oklahoma City, admitted she knew the victim, Virgil Glen Gray, 49, a Lawrenceville, Ga., funeral home employee. Gray's body was found Monday on a logging trail 30 miles northeast of Van Buren, Ark.

Turner said the woman told him she and Ledford met Gray in Doer, Ga. Saturday and that Ledford pistol-whipped Gray, knocked him unconscious and put him in the trunk of the victim's car.

She said she and Ledford drove toward Tennessee when they heard screams from the trunk. They stopped and took Gray out of the trunk to give him a drink of water.

Turner quoted her as saying Ledford then shot Gray, dumped his body back into the trunk and continued into Arkansas where they disposed of the body in the wooded area of Crawford County in northwest Arkansas.

The Shanga woman then related that they drove to Bristow, Okla., and stayed overnight, driving to Oklahoma City yesterday morning with the intention of alighting the blood-stained automobile. Bethany police, acting on a highway patrol broadcast, apprehended the couple.

Yankee Victory Would Equal Pirate Record

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

MILWAUKEE (AP) — If the New York Yankees fight back to make this a seven-game World Series and then win it, they will match the comeback of the 1925 Pittsburgh Pirates.

The 25 Pirates managed by Bill McKechnie, were the only team to overcome a 3-1 deficit to beat the Washington Senators in 1925 when it was a best-of-five competition. The Boston Red Sox trailing 3-1, bounced back to win the next four and defeat the Pirates. Deacon Phillips pitched five complete games for Pittsburgh in that series.

Walter Johnson was the victim of the Pirates' comeback on a rain-soaked, muddy field at Pittsburgh 33 years ago. Johnson had won the opener 4-1 from Lee Meadows and shut out Pittsburgh 4-0 in the fourth game. Alex Ferris also had won a game, the third, 4-3 after Vic Aldridge had given the Pirates their first victory at the expense of Stan Coveleskie in the second, 3-2.

Aldridge came back in the fifth game to beat Coveleskie for the second time 6-3 and Ray Kremer took the measure of Ferguson to square the series after six games.

With Johnson going for Washington, Manager Bucky Harris figured he had things under control after his club scored four in the first inning in the rain, knocking out Aldridge.

Pittsburgh came up with three in the third but Washington got two in the fourth. After six innings, Johnson, although being hit hard, had a 4-1 edge.

The Pirates tied the score in the seventh only to have Washington come back with another in the top of the eighth on Roger Peckinpaugh's home run. That was the setting when Johnson went out for the eighth.

Pittsburgh started to rally. Soon the bases were full. In the gloom of a rainy late October afternoon, Kiki Cuyler came through with a double for the tying and winning runs.

Crossett Contest Very Crucial One for Hope

How journeys to Crossett Friday night for perhaps their most crucial game so far this season despite a 7-1 victory. A victory for both teams will go a long way toward establishing a district favorite.

The best comparison of the two teams is a Pine Bluff which Hope defeated 9-0 and Crossett was tied 7-7. However, time should be remembered. Pine Bluff and Crossett played on a muddy field in a down-pour.

Coaches Concerned

Crossett coach and line did a good job of slowing the speedy Texarkana backs and we appreciate it. Need more be said? That was the opinion of Coach John Pierce, Don Sever and Gordon Beasley following Friday night's contest.

"Crossett is tough and we believe Hall High beat them so badly because they were pointing to this district game Friday night with Hope," the coaches commented.

Crossett is Coach Pierce's home town and he played with their assistant coach in high school and two years in college. "I have great respect for him, but I don't think he has much for me as he was the quarterback and I was only a dumb lineman," Coach Pierce said.

Crossett Strong

The Hope scouts report that Crossett has a fine team. Halfback Don Grice is another Brown or Edwards of the Texarkana team. Hope scouts believe their quarterback is next to David Watkins in shrewdness. He runs and passes real well and is about equal to David. They pointed out that Grice has made at least two or three long runs in every game and "we have got to stop him as well as the other backs." The left half, Townton, looked good against Hall High, the report said.

The Coaches figure Crossett will have the best club they have faced so far and it will take an all out effort from every player to stay on the same field with them, especially at Crossett.

They reminded that Crossett has only been beaten once on its new field since 1955. Hope tied them one time as did Camden, who won the district title in doing so.

"So you see we will have to have a lot of extra effort," the Coaches said.

Cardinals Make 3-Player Swap

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals made a 3-for-2 trade with the San Francisco Giants Tuesday, their second multi-player swap since Solly Hemus became manager last week.

Pitcher Billy Muffett, Catcher Hable Landrith and utility infielder Benny Valenzuela were sent to the Giants for pitchers Ernie Broglio and Marv Grissom.

The Cards gave up three players who failed to deliver in 1958 for a promising rookie, Broglio, and a 40 year old veteran of nine years in the major league.

Broglio, 23, won 17 games and lost only four this year in Triple-A competition. The 6-foot-2 right-hander will accompany the Cardinals on their forthcoming exhibition tour of the Orient.

Tin is the one metal of great industrial importance which is not found in valuable quantities in the United States. Almost two-thirds of the world's tin supply comes from Malaya, Indonesia and Bolivia. The United States imports every year nearly 100,000 tons at a cost of more than $200,000,000. The U.S. is the largest consumer of tin, using nearly half the world's production annually.

Bobcats Keep 4th Spot in Grid Rankings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

El Dorado, pulling down five of six first place votes, was named the No. 1 prep football team in Arkansas in the first weekly Associated Press rankings.

The Wildcats collected 59 of a possible 60 points on ballots cast by regional chairmen of the Arkansas Sports Writers' Assn.

Little Rock Central, with one first place ballot, held second place with 53 points.

North Little Rock edged Hope for third place, 43-42.

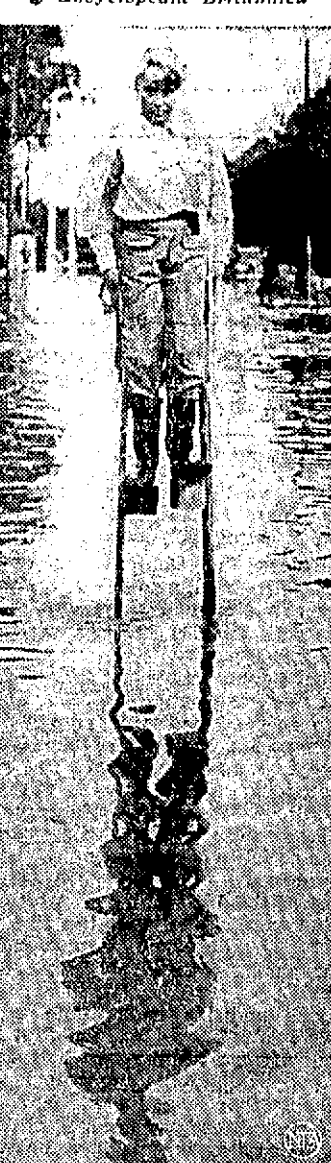

Little Rock Hall, still unbeaten despite heavy personnel losses due to integration transfers, took fifth place with 24 and West Memphis stood in sixth with 23.

Rounding out the top 10 were Hot Springs seventh with 19, Conway eighth with 17, Fort Smith ninth with 14 and Little Rock Catholic and Van Buren tied for 10th with 10 each.

Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, nine for second, etc.

Writers listed only their top 10 teams on their ballots. They were so nervous in accord that eight of the above teams appeared on all six ballots and only four other clubs received votes.

Those were De Witt 4, Pine Bluff and Newport 5 each, and Malvern 2.

RUMPLED STILT KID—Carefully manipulating her waterlogged stilts, 12-year-old Gillian Caulfield walks through a flooded street in Wickford, England. Heavy rains pounded the town, forcing hundreds of homes to be evacuated.

LAKE CONWAY: Water clear. Bass fair on plugs; bream good on worms and crickets.

LAKE GREENSON: Largemouth bass fair on red and black plastic worms; largemouth and white bass good early and late on topwater lures when schooling.

BULL SHOALS LAKE: No report.

LAKE HAMILTON: Black bass and crappie good on minnows, trolling; bream good on crickets and worms.

Porks Working on Offense Against Rice

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas' footballers can look forward to at least one more long session of contact work before their Southwest Conference clash with Rice here Saturday.

"It takes time," said Coach Frank Broyles after he put the Porks through a blocking session yesterday. "It's not something you can learn to do overnight."

But overnight is about all the Porks have until they bump head with Rice's Owls, and Broyles feels the outcome of the game rests heavily on his team's block.

Sooners, Ohio State Picked for Saturday

By HAROLD CLAASSEN

NEW YORK (AP) — There's nothing like a crisp, audible tackle to make one forget quickly and completely about baseball.

Why couldn't it have happened a week ago when double plays and sacrifice flies interfered to the extent that 12 of 52 choices were ineffectual for a record of .769.

Here are this weekend's undisturbed picks:

Ohio State over Illinois: The Buckeyes start playing in earnest now that their Big Ten title is at stake. It is an Illini home game but you can see it on your TV screen.

Oklahoma over Texas: The lean raw Oklahomans meet the lean, raw Texans. But the Sooners have more of them and that should decide.

Notre Dame over Army: This could be the game of the day. The Gadsels have, by statistics, one of the most devastating machines in the nation when on the attack in Hawkins, Anderson and Longshore. Bob, the isolated end. The Irish have Nick Pietrosanti and a tougher defense than Army has encountered before.

Auburn over Kentucky: The Plainsmen are rated No. 1. There is reason to disagree.

Wisconsin over Purdue: Two unbeaten, undefeated powers of the Big Ten collide. Loss of Purdue's Wayne Farmer, a 240-pound tackle via an injury will hurt the Boilers' makers.

Mississippi over Tulane: The Rebels have it again this year.

Michigan State over Pittsburgh: The Spartans will be mean after that tie with Michigan a week ago but those Panthers have claws.

Michigan over Navy: Navy will be protecting a 10 game winning streak but the loss of tackle Bob Reinhardt wrecks the Middles chances of adding to the list.

Skippling over the others in a hurry.

FRIDAY

LSU over Miami: Denver over Montana, Wofford over The Citadel.

SATURDAY

EAST: Colgate over Bucknell, Yale over Columbia, Delaware over Lafayette, Lehigh over Harvard, Penn State over Marquette.

W

A weakness in offense was evident in last weekend's 12-7 defeat at the hands of Texas Christian University and Broyles traces it only to blocking.

On Friday's yesterday including a running session with Willie Ferguson, the first game of the season moved up to the first game at left and Monday and this is expected to handle kicking assignments this weekend.

Golfers Finally Gets the Birdie

SOUTH BRISTOL, Maine (AP) — Wavenook Country Club members are talking today about the golfing adventures of Dr. Richard Hornberger and the sea gull.

Hornberger was plugging the 405-yard second hole in a foursome recently when he lunked his second shot close enough to the pin to assure the first duffer of a birdie.

As he approached the green a sea gull swooped down, swooped up his ball, and dropped it a full pitch shot from the green. Hornberger felt like swapping his golf clubs for a shotgun when his companion made him play the ball where it fell.

But the story doesn't end there. Hornberger's tee shot on the 240-yard third hole hooked into the rough. Sure enough the sea gull again swooped up over the green before realizing it had made the same mistake twice, then dropped the ball about 10 feet from the pin.

Hornberger got his birdie.

Pro Cagers at Cotton Contest

BLITHEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A professional basketball game between the St. Louis Hawks and the Philadelphia Warriors highlights today's activities of the National Cotton Picking Contest here. Easy Ed McCauley last night paced the world champion Hawks to an 85-76 victory over the Warriors at Jonesboro.

The cotton celebration opened here last night with street dancing. Other activities include a beauty contest tomorrow night and the cotton picking contest Friday.

Princeton over Penn. Rutgers over Richmond, Syracuse over Cornell, Detroit over Villanova, West Virginia over Boston University, Dart over Brown.

SOUTH: Alabama over Furman, Duke over Baylor, Florida State over Georgia, Georgia Tech over Tennessee, Maryland over Texas, A.M. Mississippi State over Miami, North Carolina over South Carolina, Virginia Military over William & Mary, Virginia over Florida, North Carolina over Virginia Tech, North Carolina State over Wake Forest, Clemson over Vanderbilt.

Both Managers Are Looking to Thursday

By JOE REICHLER

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Although the World Series could end today, both managers — Fred Haney of the Milwaukee Braves and Casey Stengel of the New York Yankees — were thinking of Thursday and the possible final and deciding game.

After giving a lifetime winner Warren Spahn the job of clinching the series in the sixth game today, Haney told reporters: "I like to clear it out as quickly as possible, but if we don't do it today, then we got another chance tomorrow."

Haney, naturally, expressed faith in Spahn's ability to register his third straight victory over the Yankees and declined to speculate on his seventh game pitcher if necessary. There was no doubt, however, that Low Burr, daily winner of the second game and loser of the fifth, would be the man.

Stengel, who was undecided but seemed confident that his probable winner would be upon Whitt Ford today, with Bob Turley as his seventh game choice, should the

Matter of FACT

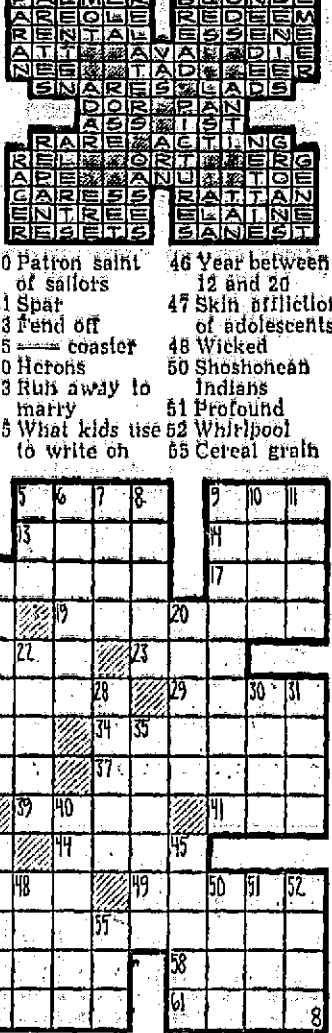

The first great library of the world, at Alexandria, was founded by Ptolemy I, who ruled Egypt from 323 to 285 B.C. The library is thought to have had 700,000 volumes written on rolls of papyrus. Manuscripts were collected from all parts of the world and scholars came from all parts to study at Alexandria. In 47 B.C., when Julius Caesar took Alexandria, part of the library was burned, but it was later restored.

Chapter XXVII

Except for the men on day herd, the Four - Arrow outfit jogged west, the ranch buildings and the rain - washed slopes of Lane Steer Mountain gloomy under an overcast sky.

"You fellows take your turns at day - herding and night guard," Lane said, "and that's all you'll have to do for a few days. You did enough last night to make up for a week."

Webster said, "We're riding for the brand, John."

They met Jess Boucault when they reached the Quarter - Circle M - Twenty Springs road, and Lane pulled up, asking, "See any of our cows down that way?"

"I never looked for any. Why? Did they run?"

"Didn't you know it?" Lane asked. He watched the heavy-set man's face intensify.

Boucault shook his head. "I wouldn't know it if they had run through our bunkhouse, storming like it was. I didn't even know a Jouquin had shot himself until I got up for breakfast."

"Yeah, he dropped his six-shooter and it went off and hit him in the belly. Pretty bad. Don't think it punctured a gut. I'm going now after Dr. Brewster."

"Wait a minute, Boucault."

The Quarter-Circle M foreman reined his horse back around, looking at John Lane.

"The Mitchells at home?"

"No, they're not, Lane. They both went off somewhere yesterday, and I ain't seen them since."

"How about Rudnick and Corri-day?"

"Yeah, they're there," Boucault said, and his eyes came wide open.

"When you get the doctor," Lane said, "bring him to the Four-Arrow."

"But Vergugo—"

"I mean for Vergugo, he'll be at the Four - Arrow, not at the Quarter-Circle."

Boucault stared, suspicion creeping into his gaze along with puzzlement.

Lane said, "Vergugo didn't shoot himself accidentally. I shot him. He and Corday and Rudnick were snooping around the herd last night. I'm not sure they caused the stampede, but I know they intended to start one. They shot at me, and I knocked Vergugo out of his saddle."

"He's at the ranch."

"I'm going down there and get him. He's going to tell me what's been going on. The Quarter-Circle outfit won't stop me, either."

Boucault stared with open mouth, realizing then that innocent himself, he was being imposed upon, he said, "Now look here, Lane, I didn't have anything to do with your steers and I don't ever intend to have. I've always been careful about Four - Arrow stuff. As for you, I got off on the wrong foot when you first came here, but any man's liable to make a mistake."

"He is if he listens to Louie Scharr."

"You'd better listen to me. And I'm not trying to bowl you out because I've got my crew at my back, either. All I want you to do, Boucault, is keep out of it."

Boucault rode on, the look on his face telling Lane that the first man he hunted up in Twenty Springs wouldn't be the median. It would be Lane's enemy, Scharr.

Irma and Mrs. Erwin were in the front yard, looking at a big cottonwood limb that had been wind - torn from a tree. Lane rode over to report the night's happenings. He told Irma, "We'll have them all rounded up again by middle of the afternoon. So I wish you would write to Colonel Richards and tell him we're ready for his trail crew."

"That all you want me to say?"

"That's all that's necessary to say. I don't care what you write him."

Lane took notice of the freshness of Irma's appearance this morning, the storm obviously not having interfered with her sleep.

She was wearing a red-checked dress with white collar and cuffs. It was belted around a waist his two hands could encompass. Lane was aware of the brightness of her eyes.

"I'm going to go get Vergugo and put him in our bunkhouse."

"John, you're not!" She stared at him, incredulous, excitement a flutter within her.

"Why not?"

"Why not? What are you thinking of I don't want trouble with the Quarter - Circle M and with Sorensen, too, would finish us for sure."

"Nobody will finish us. I don't want trouble with Mitchell, either, but I want Vergugo, and I'm going to put him in the bunkhouse. If he can't talk, I'll keep him till he can. And if he won't talk, I'll pistol - whip it out of him."

Lane looked at Mrs. Erwin. "When I came here, Fay, she was raring to fight. Wanted me to teach her how to shoot somebody. Now look at her. Sniffling around," seared to death of the Quarter - Circle.

"Murdo Mitchell's my friend. Don't go down there and start a fight, John. We haven't lost anything, have we if you shot Vergugo, they got the worst of it."

"I'm not trying to give somebody the worst of it. I'm like the rest of this outfit, riding for the brand, and someone wants to break this brand. That makes two sides. Vergugo isn't on my side. Whose side is he on?"

Arkansas Soldier Gets Heroism Medal

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — An Arkansas soldier yesterday was awarded the Soldiers Medal, the Army's highest peacetime decoration for heroism.

M-Sgt. Ivan M. Abney of Palestine, Ark., received the medal for entering a burning automobile March 18 and rescuing an unconscious officer.

"At the time, I didn't stop to consider possible consequences," Abney said after the ceremony. "Once I saw the situation, I moved in and took the only action possible."

Abney and an 18-year-old Negro civilian, Charles Hollis, forced open a door of the burning vehicle, freed the officer from a wedged position and pushed him out to spectators who had gathered at the scene.

Hollis was awarded the Decoration for Exceptional Civilian Service, the Army's highest civilian honor.

Faubus Says IRS Trying to Punish Him

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus today disclosed today a letter from the Internal Revenue Service which he said had attempted to punish him with additional taxes.

However, he also had a letter from the IRS in Washington saying that "an improper procedure has been followed by the audit division of this office." The follow-up letter indicated IRS admitted a procedural mistake and intended no further action on the matter.

Faubus said the Department originally intended to charge him taxes, in addition to his income, on the state mansion, the maintenance account provided by the state and for servants at the official residence, also paid by the state.

The governor said when he received the notice 10 days ago he telegraphed governors of 47 other states asking them if they had been charged income tax on such mansion and maintenance expenses and those who have replied said they were not.

IRS in Little Rock told Faubus that the form was issued prematurely and not in accordance with the procedural instructions.

District Collector Curtis Mathis wrote the governor:

"It is my intention to review this matter thoroughly and I will advise you further as soon as possible. Meanwhile, I have cancelled the L-10 letters (calling for the additional taxes) and you should consider it of no effect."

Faubus said that if the IRS followed the procedure the President of the United States would have to pay income tax on the use of the White House, its maintenance and staff salaries.

As listed by IRS, Faubus' taxable income for 1954 was $24,633; for 1955, $46,318; and 1956, $56,617.

In 1955 he said he was charged with $17,034 for "family living quarters furnished"; $12,250 for servants salaries and $2,820 for mansion maintenance.

In a prepared statement handed out at a press conference, Faubus said:

"Some time ago... I was asked by a reporter this question: 'Governor Faubus, do you think you can be broken?' My reply was yes, anyone can be broken with enough pressure."

"To give you some idea of the pressure to which I have been subjected, I reveal to you now the following information."

"A short time after the beginning of the Little Rock crisis... I was contacted by an agent of the Internal Revenue Service and told my income tax affairs would be checked. To this I had no objection, whatever and felt no alarm..."

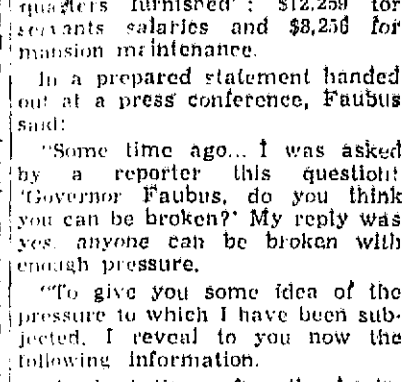

"However, this investigation has dragged on now for more than a year, and recently I received what is known as a 10-day letter from the Revenue Department. In this letter are certain charges at which I was completely astounded..."

"There was demanded of me the payment of personal income taxes on the fair rental value of the mansion amounting to some $17,000 a year and on the salaries of the mansion servants, paid by the state, and on the state appropriation for maintenance of the mansion."

Faubus said the tax on these items would exceed his $10,000 annual salary.

Supt. for Private Schools Selected

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—A retired public school administrator today was named superintendent for the Little Rock Private School Corp., which plans to operate private, segregated white high schools here.

He is W. C. Brashears, who retired last June as principal of the Rightseil Elementary School here. At one time Louis Henderson, director of secondary education for Little Rock Public Schools, was designated as the private school superintendent.

However, all public school teachers and administrators have been advised by their attorneys that they would be violating federal court orders if they accepted employment with the private school group.

Says U. S. Kitchens Would Convert Reds

CHICAGO (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Benson said today that if Russian housewives could visit an American kitchen, there probably would be less danger of war with the Soviets.

He contrasted American abundance with Soviet shortages of consumer goods.

"The Russian housewife would be lost in a modern U.S. kitchen," he said. "Too bad more Russian women can't see what they are missing. They might clamor for more refrigerators in preference to more tanks, tractors instead of tanks, cabinets instead of cannons, modern stoves instead of submarines, and garbage disposals instead of guns."

Benson spoke at a meeting of the National Assn. of Food Chains.

Balloon Try for Space Trip Started

By STEVE LOWELL

ALAMOGORDO, N.M. (AP)—A huge helium-filled plastic balloon rose majestically from the New Mexico desert at 6:50 a.m. today, carrying a young military scientist on a flight aimed at the stratosphere.

Lt. Clifton McClure, 25-year-old jet pilot, was sealed into the gondola of the balloon again Tuesday night.

A launching attempt failed Tuesday morning when a ground wind whipped the big three-million-cubic-foot Project Man High balloon as it was being filled with gas. It finally was destroyed. A substitute balloon was used today.

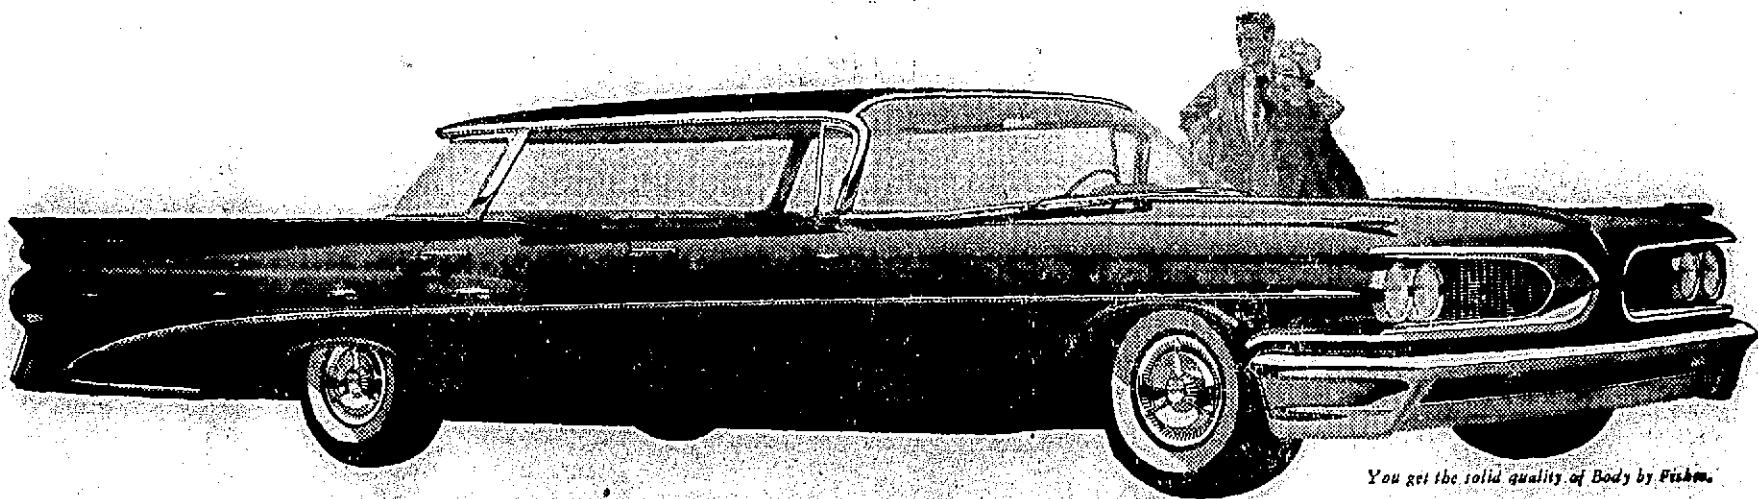

Officials estimated it would take two to three hours for him to reach the altitude goal of 100,000 feet where he hopes to remain for 24 hours.

He will serve as the eyes and hands of a panel of scientists of the ground who will question him about his observations during the long flight.

Weather conditions were such that officials figured he would drift eastward from Alamogordo then back over the missile range about sunset.
